

CTO and Cofounder for Digital Co-Working Platform

The most promising start-ups are built in times of crisis.
If not now – when?

We turn the crisis into an opportunity! Our early stage start-up builds a technology platform that connects users for digital co-working sessions and helps to increase their working productivity. Our MVP is currently being developed by an external IT team. As CTO, you will be part of the founding team and will be involved in the technical development and maintenance of the platform.

About ConcentrAid

Before this spring, home office was the dream of many employees. However, many now experience that this freedom is connected to prolonged working hours and shrinking productivity.

ConcentrAid provides a productivity tool that connects users and structures their working day. We use academic research to increase working efficiency in order to decrease working hours!

We are convinced that ConcentrAid promises not only economic success but also a great social added value for students and professionals! As schools, offices and universities are closed down we need new solutions that connect people as lack of social interactions is one of the non-monetary costs of the pandemic.

We need you!

-
- You are smart, driven and able to get stuff done
 - You want to create your own working environment and be an entrepreneur
 - You have a strong computer science / data analytics background (React, Node.js, Java)
 - You have experience with cloud infrastructures and deployment
 - You combine an open team spirit and solid communication skills

To be in charge of:

-
- the growth infrastructure and maintenance of the web app
 - Managing the architecture around our core language models
 - Maintaining user databases in a multi-tenant framework
 - Understanding user behavior

We are offering you:

-
- A chance to be the 4th member of a great founding team
 - A full-time, pre-funding engagement
 - Significant equity ownership
 - A Swiss productivity startup that helps students and employees to manage their time
 - The founding team has a strong background in economics and business administration as well as broad experience in company founding and managing – including digital platforms.
 - We are based in Zurich, Munich and Leipzig but share St. Gallen (CH) as part-time home

To start, a broad range of flexible collaboration models are possible. Let's talk!

Send your CV and examples of your past work or your personal web page to concentraid.team@gmail.com