EAST ASIAN STUDIES(EAS)

Signature Program for International Students(I)

Program Overview

Kyonggi University (KGU), taking advantage of its distinctive location at the crossroads of East Asia, has a close partnership with peer institutions in China, Japan, and other East Asian countries, as well as in Europe and America. Based on these resources, KGU is providing students with unparalleled opportunities to broaden their horizons toward the world. KGU offers EAS program with a focus on Korea, which is designed for cultivating creative minds of international students through the convergence of multiple academic disciplines. EAS' innovative curriculum conducted in an English only setting will bring together students from a diverse range of international backgrounds, providing them with a challenging and appreciative education that stresses core values of global leadership and responsible citizenship. EAP students are encouraged to take advantage of interdisciplinary majors and to pursue their intellectual passions wherever they may lead. This interdisciplinary program compares the experiences of East Asia's ways and means of economic, social, and technical development to the rest of the world. Upon graduation from KGU, students will be equipped with the knowledge and skills required to successfully pursue professional careers related to Korea and other East Asian countries in the international arena.

Curriculum

The outstanding accomplishments of economic, political, and social development in Korea and other East Asian countries have shed light on many issues in other developed and developing countries. In particular, this concentration teaches business, economics, and cultural aspects of traditional and contemporary East Asia from the international perspective. Theories and empirical findings from various academic disciplines are collectively applied to understand Korea's remarkable phenomena of industrialization, economic growth, political democratization, modernization, and their implications for other societies. Upon successful completion of this concentration students will be conferred with a Bachelor of Business Administration, Bachelor of Science in Economics, or Bachelor of East Asian Studies.

International students will have the opportunity to enjoy a farewell party. Students can eat and drink together, and share their experience at KGU. Students will also have the chance prepare and share exotic food from around the world.

International Mentor Program

Kyonggi University has organized the International Mentor Program for the purpose of promoting interaction between the international students and native Kyonggi students. The aim is to help international students adjust to the new environment, as well as minimize the feelings of loneliness or isolation that students might feel when they first arrive in a Korea. International students can learn and experience the real Korean way first hand from their Kyonggi mentors. Likewise, they can reciprocate to Kyonggi students by introducing their own culture and lifestyle, thereby broadening the worldview of both students.

Arrangements for Homestay

Homestay accommodations are a popular option for students, who want to immerse themselves in Korean culture and save on living costs during their stay in Korea. Some host families could provide discounts for lodging fees if the international student can share his or her home language with their children. KGU plans to arrange "Homestay with Language Exchange" programs for international students. Applicants for the program may be required to pass an interview with a document screening.
